Making Good.

Making Good.

There is no way of making lesting friends like "Making Good;" and Dector Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence is the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the heart" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest, hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly fashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, four breath, nasty coated tongue, with ditter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for.

Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special allments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtnes still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nervenie it is unequaled. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Piensant Pellets, the origi-

who want boose, for there is not across of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as eandy—one to three a dose. Much imitated but never smaled.

C. B. Bennett is now under arrest in Floyd, charged with the murder of Underwood, the theory circulated being that Bennett desired Underwood out of the way so that he might marry Mrs. Under-

Sheriff Slusher says Underwood and Bennett were spparently good friends, until the wom a came into the case. They had worked ogether as contracting carpenters in the neighborhood of Davis, W Vs. Underwood had a prettp wife, with whom, it is said he eloped, from West Virginia, two years ago. The parents are declared to have objected to his sait. The two men were much together and Bennett saw considerable of Mrs. Underwood. While traveling to-gether near Floyd on O tober 27 Bennett it is alleged, gave Underwood some whisky and Underwood immediately be came sick, dying several days later.

The case puzzled the family physician
He thought Underwood was suffering from spinal meningitis and Mrs Underwood said she had seen her husband in that condition before.

Mrs. Underwood's haste to collect the money which Underwood had deposited in bank, which she applied for the day following his death, created suspicion. A few days later the neighborhood was startled by the announcement that Ben-bett had married Underwood's widow. A warrant has also been issued for the street of Mrs. Underwood.

DUEL IN A PARLOR.

Charles W. Bennett and Otis H. Gooden Wednesday night called at the house of George W. Guard in Lawrenceburg, Ind., to see Mrs. Minnie Hess Cooper, a comely widow. A quarrel soou arose. Hanging on the wall in the parlor of the house were two sabres that had been used in the civil war by Mr. Guard's grandfather. Each man seized a sabre, and a sword fight ensued. The mmotion in the parlor and the screams of Mrs. Cooper attracted the attention of Guard, who had retired. He partly dressed, ran into the room and found the two men whacking each other with the two men was exing each other with the sabres. Bennett was proving a poor fencer and was getting by far the worst of the fight. He was bleeding profusely from cuts and slashes. Just as Guard entered Bennett fell on the floor, cover-ed with blood. Gooden was in the aced with blood. Gooden was in the act of running the sabre through his fallen opponent when Guard interfered and felled him with a heavy chair. The widow ran into the street, crying for belp. Policeman Louis Wingerter ar-rived, and, after a struggle with Gooden, compelled him to surrender at the muzzle of a revolver. He was taken to jail. Dr. George F. Smith was summoned, and dressed the injuries of Bennett. There was one serious stab in his abdomen, which required eight stiches to Bennett is in a serious condition, but will recover unless blood poison develops. Mrs. Cooper declares that she

OSBORN-MALONEY MARRIAGE. Martin Maloney and his eloping daughter Helen, together with her mother, her hueband, Herbert Arthur Osborn, the Carberrys, Ritchies, and others in the case, fied to the millionaire's big country place at Spring Lake, N. J., yesterday evening, where, in the private chapel of the Maloneys, the religious ceremony uniting Osborn to his wife was to be performed. The Ma-loneys hope to have the marriage sanctified at their country home more essily than in Philadelphia. According to the canons of the church, the civil marriage with Osborn can be made legal in the eyes of the clurch by an archbishop blessing the union. A large dowry, it is said, will be settled upon Mrs. Osborn after the marriage is sanctified.
